One Year of Impact

Last year Ruth‘s Army was founded out of a desperate desire to help women in the Clarksville-Montgomery county region post-Roe. After one year, we have seen the tremendous impact a group of determined indviduals can make. From educational panels including professionals from across the state to supporting access to life-changing medical care, Ruth‘s Army‘s first year was filled with successes both small and large. As we begin year two, we hope to continue the momentum and expand our reach by collaborating with other organizations committed to reproductive health in the middle Tennessee region and beyond. By patterning with Planned Parenthood, Choices, as well as clinics dedicated to reproductive rights in southern Illinois, we will continue to fight for sexual and reproductive health education, community outreach, and access.
